

News of Our Boys

Last Friday morning a large number of relatives and friends gathered at the C.N.R. depot to welcome Sgt. Jimmie Sharkey, who has been overseas since 1939. Jim was very glad to get home and is looking well for the trying time he has been through. Jim's brother-in-law and sister, Lieut. and Mrs. J. Carwell who has also recently returned from overseas, accompanied Jim, also Mr. Sharkey and daughter, Mrs. Ward.

Pte. Charles Hockett was home on leave from Calgary this week. Lieut. Ed Sharkey of the Canadian Paratroopers arrived in Calgary May 1 from overseas.

LAC. Melvin Knudson was home for his cousin, Arthur's wedding this week.

Cpl. Ken Matheson of the Can. Provost Corps, Calgary, was an Irma visitor this week.

LAC. Charles Milne was home from the west coast last week on a short leave.

WORLD OF WHEAT

Help Britain by Growing Vegetables

Britain has shipped a large part of her precious meat reserves for the purpose of aiding those who are in dire distress. The United States and Canada, therefore, are straining every effort to send all the meat they can to Britain. We can all help by eating less meat. One of the best ways of making up for some lack of meat is by consuming more vegetable. No food with such high nutrients can be grown in such large quantities and with such little labor as vegetables. Farmers can easily grow their own vegetables.

Certain vegetables are high in the precious vitamins A and C. They are: broccoli, mustard and cress, Brussels sprouts, spinach, tomatoes, cauliflower, cabbage and lettuce. Other vegetables have considerably less nutritive value: turnips, carrots, peas, radishes, parsnips, runner beans and onions. Still others have practically no nutritive value: asparagus, cucumber, celery, marrow and pumpkin.

Vegetables such as lettuce, tomatoes, mustard and cress, eaten raw, give the consumer the full content of vitamins, but improper cooking can easily lose most of the vitamins contained in vegetables. All housewives, therefore, should learn the proper way to cook vegetables so as to preserve most of the valuable nutrients they contain. A nutritious vegetable soup is a full meal and a right royal dish for any table.

Social Evening And Shower

A very lovely shower and social evening in honor of Miss Marion Carrington, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Carrington, whose marriage took place May 2 to Mr. Arthur Knudson, both of Irma, was held in the Lodge Hall Monday evening, May 30.

Rev. Mr. Longmire acted as chairman for the short program which consisted of two solos by Pat Milne, accompanied at the piano by her sister, Miss Charlotte, readings by Mrs. C. McLean, a piano solo by Miss Audrey Jones, and a solo by Miss Lois Longmire accompanied by Mrs. Clarence Carter. Mr. Black, assisted by Miss Audrey Jones, conducted a realistic "Share the Wealth" quiz. Following the program little Dale Fuder presented the bride-to-be with a gaily decorated wagon brimming over with lovely and useful gifts, and a host of good wishes from the hall full of friends and neighbors. Miss Carrington and Mr. Knudson both expressed their thanks most sincerely to all the donors.

The hostesses, Mrs. A. Knudson, Mrs. Masson, Mrs. Arnold Mrs. Halvorsen, Mrs. McLean, Mrs. Locke and others served a delicious lunch, and after singing "For They are Jolly Good Fellows," and "God Save the King," a very pleasant time was brought to a close.

FARM AMMUNITION

When farmers require ammunition for the protection of crops and livestock, they are required to take the registration certificate for their firearms to the nearest ration office, where a permit will be given. This permit must be presented to the retailer from whom the purchase of ammunition is made.

PLAN BRAKE CHECK IN DOMINION, U.S.

Detroit, April 30—With the slogan, "You're only a foot from trouble—check your brakes!" the International Association of Chiefs of Police will conduct an automobile brake check campaign throughout the United States and Canada from April 15 to Jun. 1.

The check is designed to reduce traffic accident fatalities and injuries and to conserve the existing supply of passenger automobiles. No motorist will be stopped solely for the brake check but the brakes of all passenger cars involved in traffic accidents or traffic violations are to be checked on the spot.

Items From Kinsella District

Mr. Jack Minchin, of the RCAF, who recently returned from overseas, and has been visiting relatives in Kinsella and Grande Prairie, left on Sunday night to report in Winnipeg.

Mr. and Mrs. George Jackson and son were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. Wachter. Mr. and Mrs. O. Watson received the news on Sunday that a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. E. Raham of Montreal. Mrs. Raham is the former Miss E. Watson.

Miss G. Lee spent the week-end with her cousin at Wainwright. Mr. and Mrs. E. Mark visited their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. Loney, at Holden on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wylie of Vegreville were visitors at Mrs. Stronach's during the week-end.

Mr. D. Corbett is in Edmonton for a few days. Mr. and Mrs. A. Lambden left last Tuesday night for Nova Scotia where they will make their future home.

Staff Sgt. D. McIlroy who has recently returned from service overseas was in Kinsella last week renewing old acquaintances. While there he was the guest of Mr. Frank Murray. On Tuesday evening he spoke at a gathering at the school on behalf of the Eighth Victory Loan.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Long and family are spending a vacation at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Long.

UNIVERSITY OF ALBERTA FEEDERS' DAY

During the past quarter century the University of Alberta Feeders' day, arranged by the department of animal science, seems to have established itself as an important date on the livestock calendar for early June. The date this year is Saturday, June 9th, and the university is looking forward to welcoming a large gathering which we know will include a lot of old friends and we hope a lot of new ones.

There will be something on the program for the dairyman, the beef man and the hog man. Does urea have a place as a protein substitute in dairy and sheep ration? Cover crop—what does it mean to the farmer, to the steer and to the land? Do peas and other protein supplements of plant origin give good results in hog rations? The results of experiments conducted on these and other problems during the past year will be discussed and will provide an interesting and profitable program.

CHURCHILL AND ROOSEVELT

It will be generally agreed that the two most influential public speakers of these past six war years were Winston Churchill and Franklin Delano Roosevelt. It would be difficult and perhaps it would be difficult to say which of the two wielded the greater influence in the world at large through their powers of speech. They were entirely different in personality and style of utterance. In person, Churchill is romantic and fascinating, and his style is racy, sparkling and at times almost lyrically poetic. He displays all the qualities and some of the tricks of the old-fashioned orator, plus the "common touch" and the progressive spirit.

Roosevelt was a plain man, with a good deal of the New England Puritan, tempered by the milk of human kindness and not a little of political astuteness. He was plain, direct and matter-of-fact in speech although on several critical occasions he suddenly leapt to dramatic heights and his speech flashed like lightning and roared like thunder around the world. Coming from such a placid and kindly man, those utterances were all the more effective and influential. Roosevelt was first and last a true American, but he was perhaps the first American statesman with a world-wide sympathy and vision.

Churchill is heart and soul an Englishman. He had to be that in those early days of the war when England stood alone and defied the military might of a triumphant and brutal enemy of mankind. It was Churchill's trumpet blast of oratory that saved the British people from the pit of despair and inspired them with fortitude and courage to endure and fight in the face of overwhelming odds. But his speech not only gave strength and courage to the people of Britain, it echoed round the world and thrilled the hearts of all free peoples. And it struck a hesitant fear into the heart of Hitler.

What is the secret of such great power of speech? It has been said that "the occasion makes the man" and there is no doubt that the rise of Churchill and Roosevelt to positions of great world leadership and personal power was demanded by a great emergency. They were men born out of due time, and by their powers of speech they gave utterance to the inarticulate thoughts and emotions of the common people. But there was nothing of chance in their ability to speak for their countrymen. They were not stump orators or hysterical and brow-beating spellbinders such as Hitler. They were men of clear vision and calm reason, and when they spoke they did so in

Canada's Food Supply

SHORTLY AFTER CANADA ENTERED the war, the people were warned that they would be called upon to make many sacrifices, and that one of these sacrifices would involve a general lowering of the standard of living here. Since that time, labour shortages, the disappearance from the market of many luxury items, and numerous other wartime scarcities have touched almost every Canadian home, and there are few families today who have not in some way been affected by these restrictions. While spending power has been drastically curtailed in many ways, Canada's buying power was three billion dollars higher last year than it was in 1939. Since many of the normal channels of spending are now closed, statistics show that Canadians have been steadily increasing that percentage of their income which they spend on food.

People Now More Adequately Fed

Statistics for the year ending in November, 1944, showed that in that period wholesale grocers had sold twelve per cent. more groceries and ten per cent. more fruits and vegetables than during the preceding year. Meat production in 1944 was the highest in our history, and in the 1943-44 crop year Canadian flour mills produced thirteen and a half million barrels of flour, which was also an unprecedented figure. In the case of both wheat and flour, much is exported, but there has been a steady increase in the domestic demand for both these products. Nutritionists look with favour on this rise in food consumption in Canada, for it means that the people are being more adequately fed than they were in the pre-war years, and this will, undoubtedly, favourably affect the standard of national health.

On Combined Food Board

There has been some discussion lately concerning the world food situation, and Canada's part in feeding the less fortunately situated people of other countries. Canada has, all through the war, sent large shipments of food to the United Kingdom and to any other country where war conditions made this possible. Canadian farmers have done a magnificent task of not only maintaining but of increasing production in spite of serious handicaps in the way of labour shortages and scarcity of equipment. The people as a whole have cheerfully accepted such food rationing as has been necessary, and are fully aware that rationing and shortages of some supplies will in all probability continue long after hostilities cease. Canada, the United Kingdom and the United States have worked together on the Combined Food Board, the object of which has been to ensure as fair a food distribution as possible among all the Allied Nations. As more shipping space becomes available, and relief organizations extend their activities in liberated countries, food distribution will be carried out on an increasing scale, and Canada will no doubt play an important part in the effort to set up and maintain a high standard of nutrition throughout the world.

HOW YOU CAN GET QUICK RELIEF FROM SORE, PAINFUL PILES

Most people seem to think the only way to get relief from their sore, painful piles is by local treatment. Local treatment may give temporary relief from the itching but you can easily see why such treatment will not correct the cause of your piles. No lasting freedom from pile misery has been had unless the cause of the trouble is corrected. Piles are due to internal causes so the best way to get lasting relief is to treat them internally with a medicine like Hem-Roid. Hem-Roid is a formula that has been used for over 40 years by thousands of pile sufferers. It is a smaller, highly concentrated tablet, easy and pleasant to use. This cleverly compounded tablet formula directs its medical action to the relief of the congestion that is the real cause of your piles. Hem-Roid promotes free, better movements, quickly relieves itching and burning and pleasantly increases blood circulation in the lower bowel. With good blood circulation in the lower bowel the painful pile tumors soon disappear, the sensitive membranes clean and healthy. We invite you to try Hem-Roid and let it prove itself. You can make your test, and if you are not completely satisfied, we will promptly refund your money. NO COST to you. This gentle offer is backed by a reliable firm doing business in Canada for a good many years. Hem-Roid must be used in the proper condition quickly, easily and pleasantly or this simple, easy test costs you nothing. Try it today.

Blind Workers

Thirty-Seven Blind People Work As Rivet Sorters in British Factory
A Southampton works manager told a Labor exchange official that he needed rivet sorters. "I could do the job with my eyes shut," he said. When the official suggested blind persons he was rather incredulous, but agreed to give two blind workers a trial. After a fortnight he returned and asked for more and now has 37 blind people at work. "It is who we have blind," is his comment.—London Daily Sketch.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q.—A few years ago I used to be able to buy small tins of meat sandwich spread. They were so handy because they were just the right size for one meal, and my husband could take one along in his lunch box. Is there any possibility of meat spread being packed in these little tins again soon?

A.—Yes, since the first of the year manufacturers have been permitted to pack meat and poultry sandwich spreads in the small three-ounce containers you speak of. But in order to give packers sufficient time to build up their stocks, sale of these products to the trade was not permitted until April 1st. If your grocer has any of these three-ounce containers of meat and poultry sandwich spread on order, he should be receiving stock shortly.

Q.—I am a returned man and wish to start in business. Do I have to secure a license before I can do this?

A.—Yes. You should make application to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board for a license.

Q.—Are stores allowed to deliver less than $1 worth of merchandise?

A.—After October 30, 1944, each retailer was allowed to establish his own value limitations on deliveries and time limits on returns, refunds and exchanges. Retail deliveries are still limited to one per day per route.

Q.—Now that shot guns and rifles do not need to be registered, is it necessary to have a permit to purchase ammunition?

A.—Yes, permits are to be obtained in the same manner as formerly. No ammunition must be given out without an essentially certificate approved by the local ration board.

SMILE AWHILE

Traffic Officer: "What's the matter with you?"

Driver: "I'm well, thanks, but my engine's dead."

"I'm sorry that I haven't a nickel," said the lady as she handed the car conductor a ten dollar bill. "Don't worry, he's your car. You got to have 199 of 'em in a couple of minutes."

Father: "I'm busy. Be short." Son: "I will, I am."

Police Chief: "What? You mean to say this fellow choked a woman to death in a cabaret in front of 200 people and nobody interfered?" Captain: "Yes, Chief. Everybody thought they were dancing."

"You walked all the way," exclaimed the acquaintance. "How did you get along?" "Oh, first rate," the old man replied. "That is, I did till I came to that sign out there, 'Slow down to Twenty-five Miles Per Hour.' That kept me back some!"

Professor: "What is a comet?" Joe Fratz: "A star with a tail." Professor: "Good, so far. Now, name one." J. Fratz: "Mickey Mouse."

Fisherman: "It was that long. Never saw such a fish in my life." Friend: "That, I can believe!"

"Are caterpillars good to eat?" asked Johnny at the dinner table. "No," said his father. "What makes you ask a question like that when we are eating?" "You had one on your lettuce, but it's gone now."

Teacher: "If you had $10 in one pocket and $15 in another, what would you have?" Pupil: "Somebody else's trousers."

"Doctor: 'Ask the accident victim what his name is, so we can notify his family.' Nurse (a few minutes later): 'He says his family knows his name.'"

Bit Of History

When Garibaldi Sold Italy Would Stand By Britain

In April, 1854, Garibaldi, commanding the ship Commonwealth, put in to Tyne to take in coal.

When it was known that the Commonwealth had anchored at Tyne-mouth, a public subscription was organized to present her commander with a sword and a telescope, and a deputation was appointed to make the presentation on board the vessel.

Writing on April 12 to Mr. Joseph Cowen, chairman of the deputation, Garibaldi used these words: "England is a great and powerful nation, independent of auxiliary aid, foremost in human progress, enemy to despotism, the only safe refuge of the exile, the friend of the oppressed; but if ever England, your native country, should be circumstanced as to require the help of an ally, cursed be that Italian who would not step forward with me in her defence."—Leeds Yorkshire Post.

THE IGLOO—

"The Igloo" came up each day with the rations. To the men who took part in the Eskimo Scheme recently completed in Northern Saskatchewan, it was as welcome as food, and being so, it is not surprising. "The Igloo" was a news sheet, written from base headquarters in Prince Albert and sent out each day to the men "on scheme". Its purpose was chiefly informative, to keep the "Eskimos" in the know on world events, on activities around the base headquarters and on what their current "Eskimo-ess" among the CWACs was doing to keep herself occupied in their absence. Lt. M. O. D. Logan, St. John, N.B., was editor-in-chief of the publication. Two other CWACs employed on the editorial staff were Pte. N. M. Cobbe, Limerick, Sask., and Pte. Doris Altwood, Calgary. Meantime many a link between the men out on scheme and the base, "The Igloo" was definitely welcome as the rations with which it arrived. To the CWACs it was their contribution to the "morale department". Unable to take an active part in the Eskimo scheme itself, they enjoyed the morale-boosting opportunity their daily news sheet gave them.

MARRIED—

A pretty wedding ceremony was enacted in the church of St. Martin's in the Field in London recently, when Pte. Ruby Viola Nelson, daughter of Mrs. Alice Littlewood, Foam Lake, Sask., became the bride of Gnr. Perry Bernard Vikanes son of Bert Vikanes, Beechey, Sask. Pte. Doris Atkinson, Manitou, Man., and Sgt. Robert Gray, Toronto, were attendants. The bride was given in marriage by her cousin Sgt. Miller Howe, Foam Lake. All the bridal party wore service uniforms.

CRACK-SHOOTING CWACs—

Rifle shooting popularity has reached an all-time high with members of the C.W.A.C. Overseas and in Canada. Crack marksmen at No. 42 Company, C.W.A.C., in London recently set their way to victory over a rifle team representing the Ordnance Corps. While the men were still practicing for a vindictive "trigging triumph", the girls went on to vanquish a picked team from the Signal Corps. One of the highest scorers was L-Cpl. Ida Skinner, Winnipeg. Very active rifle clubs have been formed in Montreal and Ottawa with many of the members qualifying for the First Class Badge of the Dominion Marksmen Competition. Major Mary Morrison, Delta, Alta., O.C. No. 12 Administrative Unit, Ottawa, is the crack shot of that team. Other high scorers are L-Cpl. Eunice Parker, Minnedosa, Man., Sgt. Gertrude Wurtz, Kelvington, Sask.; Pte. Lucy Cassels, Don Crest, Sask.; Pte. Doris Colwell, Langdon, Alta.; Pte. June White, Isle Pierre, Sask.

ENLIST—

Several Western girls enlisted in the C.W.A.C. in Regina recently. Included among them were Jessie Hall, Conquest; Janet Downie, Fielding; Agnes Ness, Eldersley; Lilian Crocker, Lethbridge, Alta.; Mary Mackenzie, Calgary; Mable Anderson, Bagley; Helen Narahabaki Daffoe; Ida Evans, Spruce Home; Deloris Ness, Eldersley; Edna Orel, Spruce Home; Ellen Vacher, Flin Flon.

"S'Mutiny!"

THE day Aunt Agatha said, "No more tea and coffee until your disposition improves... you'll drink Postum instead"—Uncle Jack almost decided to go back to sea.

But Aunt Agatha can be persuasive, and Uncle Jack actually tried Postum. "Shiver my timbers if it isn't all right," he said. "It's not like tea and it's not like coffee. But it's mighty good just the same." And that night he slept like a baby.

Postum is free of caffeine, or any other drug that might affect nerves or heart or digestion. It is made right in the cup, just by adding hot milk or boiling water. Try Postum! You'll like it too!

GEMS OF THOUGHT

"THE DESIRED HEAVEN"

How often we look upon God as our last and feeblest resource! We imagine that we have nowhere else to go. And then we learn that the storms of life have driven us, not upon the rocks, but into the desired haven.—Geo. Macdonald.

The disappointed man turns his thoughts toward a state of existence where his wisest desires may be fixed with the certainty of faith.—Southey.

It is difficult to make a man miserable while he feels he is worthy of himself and claims kindred to the great God who made him.—Abraham Lincoln.

Soul has infinite resources with which to bless mankind, and happiness would be more readily attained and would be more secure in our keeping, if sought in Soul.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Live near to God, and so all things will appear to you little in comparison with eternal realities.—R. M. McCheyne.

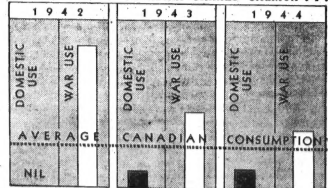

Man courts happiness in a thousand shapes; and the faster he follows it the swifter it flies from him.—Tillotson.

WHY YOU CANNOT GET CANNED SALMON

Perhaps it would be more correct to say "why you cannot get all the canned salmon you want". Here's the real inside story of what has happened during the war years and the credit must be given to the British Columbia Packers Ltd., of Vancouver for the illustration.

Like the farmers of Canada the fishermen set their teeth, buckled into the job, improvised ways and means, and when the final count was made recently it showed a delivery of over seven million (7 million) cases of salmon and herring to Britain and the fighting fronts in the three years comparing this item as well as material in it.

It was back in 1941 when the food situation in Great Britain became desperate due largely to "the battle of the Atlantic" that our Canadian Government asked, on behalf of the British Ministry of Food, for all the canned salmon that could be spared and also for a great canned herring production.

The industry did its best, then came the requisition, right after Pearl Harbour, of all the large salmon and herring fishing boats on the Pacific Coast by the Royal Canadian Navy as an urgent defence measure. You can readily see how this would cripple the industry which on the one hand was being urged to catch and can fish and on the other was having its fishing boats taken away.

since 1942—a truly magnificent record.

That, dear reader, explains why you cannot get all the canned salmon you want because during the same three years only 450,000 cases in all were released in Canada, which is far short of the usual quantity for one year because, before the war we used about 600,000 cases yearly.

One thing is sure, the Canadian fisherman by his efforts has helped materially to feed the soldiers and the people of Britain and in that way contributed to winning the war.

But won't you be glad when you can go into the grocery store again and order sockeye, Coho or Pink salmon—and get it? The prospect makes my mouth water because I surely love my salmon!

In The Moonlight

By REGINA WAGNER

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

"Myrtle in bed?" Papa asked cheerfully, kicking off his old house slippers. Mama nodded vaguely, her eyes shifting away from her husband. Papa didn't notice it. He was pulling the sheet up about his head in the special way he liked. "She ought to be in bed early the night before her wedding," he stated contentedly. "Lucky girl, marrying Sam! I tell you he's the best catch in town."

Mama, in front of the mirror, began to brush her short grayish hair. After each stroke, she paused, frightened eyes staring into the glass and listened. She was afraid to tell Papa that she had left Myrtle on the porch for a minute—just a bare minute—and when she returned, Myrtle was not there. Mama was terrified. Myrtle might have gone off with that Ted Andrews whom Papa hated so. And on the night before her wedding to Sam Merritt, too! Mama's eyes grew more and more frightened.

Papa called impatiently, "Ain't you ever coming to bed?"

Mama, thus rebuked, pulled her sheepish apron over her head and hurried through her other preparations. She went obediently to bed, but she was aware of every sound in the street below.

Where was Myrtle?

Mama thought suddenly of the beautiful white wedding dress hanging in Myrtle's room. Mama remembered how Myrtle had looked when the dress was done at last, and put on. All white and soft and clinging, it was. Molded by Myrtle's own soft, slim shapeliness. Pretty Myrtle! Mama had drawn her breath quickly when she had seen Myrtle in that dress. And yet there had been something. Something—lacking. Nonsense, of course. Just Mama's silly notions. The dress was so beautiful. Like—a ray of moonlight.

Mama stirred nervously. Where was Myrtle?

"If she stays away much longer, I will have to wake Papa and tell him," Mama moaned. Papa was snoring peacefully now. And he did hate Ted Andrews so! Now, Sam! There was a boy! Still young—well, you couldn't call him old. What if he was fifteen years older than Myrtle? She was a baby; she needed a man with some sense to take care of her. Besides, look what Sam had, Papa said.

Mama raised herself on an elbow. A sound at last down there—an engine that wheezed and came to a sudden stop. That was Ted Andrews, all right. Mama found that she had been breathing hard—just as she did when she tried to run upstairs.

She relaxed. Well, it was all right now. Myrtle wouldn't have had Ted bring her back if she hadn't meant to do what he papa wanted her to. Everybody did as Papa wanted. Mama always had. For that matter, she wanted to see Myrtle well fixed.

Have No Rank

Chaplains in Navy Equal To Men They Talk With

W. L. Clark, in the Windsor Star, says: Chaplains in the Navy have no rank and wear no rank badges. The padre is in naval uniforms and the cut of the clothes resembles the garb of a naval officer.

The idea of having no rank is that a naval chaplain always ranks equally with the man to whom he is talking. If the padre is with an admiral, then he ranks with the admiral; and, if the padre is with a rating, he ranks with the rating. This plan of the Navy saves the men in the ranks the embarrassment that comes from talking to a commissioned officer. In the Air Force or the Army, it is sometimes necessary to have a non-commissioned officer act as an intermediary before a private can talk to God's representative. It may seem silly to be uninitiated, but some of the chaplains with commissioned rank are as shooey as a second lieutenant who has just put up his own pipe.

Some day, perhaps, the Army and Air Force will follow the example of the Senior Service and have the chaplains rank with all, no matter whether it be the lowest or highest.

Draw Extra Pay

Stokers And Cooks On Uganda Work Under Hard Conditions

Because of the tropical heat in which they have to work, stokers and cooks on H.M.C.S. Uganda will draw extra pay for their service in the Pacific.

When the Uganda, Canada's first cruiser, crossed the equator on her 20,000-mile trip to Australian waters from a United States navy yard, the temperature in the engine rooms was about 114 degrees. Under the deck head it was 140.

The medical staff under Surgeon Cmdr. Ken Thompson of Edmonton, will have to deal with such nuisances as skin rashes. Salt tablets will be administered as well as yellow anti-malaria pills.

TUBERCULOSIS OF THE BOVINE TYPE AND UNDULANT FEVER

Tuberculosis of childhood, excepting the pulmonary type, is caused by contaminated milk. A careful survey of 352 tubercular children in one United States city showed that 25 per cent. suffered from the bovine type. The source of infection in these cases was raw (unpasteurized) milk.

Some years after the introduction of compulsory milk pasteurization in Toronto, a survey revealed that the only children in hospital suffering from tuberculosis of the bovine type were from outside the city.

Most favored body points for tubercular germs from raw milk are the lymph gland of the intestines and the neck and bones. Tuberculosis of bones and joints causes many crippling deformities.

A common disease in cattle is infectious abortion from germs called brucella. Goats, pigs and cows can be infected with these germs which rarely attack children but which cause undulant fever in adults.

Undulant fever is contracted by drinking raw milk from diseased cows or through contact with infected animals or by handling infected meat. It also may be spread through cheese, butter and buttermilk. There are three strains of brucella with the one of pig origin the most virulent. When undulant fever causes death, this strain is generally to blame. Undulant fever derived from cow's milk is the mildest and death rarely occurs from this type.

However, cows sometimes are infected with a virulent strain that originated elsewhere and this strain has been found in cow's milk.

Shows Great Presence Of Mind When School Caught On Fire

Attention should be drawn to a young gentleman of whom the world may count on hearing more. Master Peter Thompson McClintock, a pupil at the public school in Rochester, where a fire, involving four fatalities, took place last night. Young McClintock, who was aged eleven and had been at the school just four days when the fire occurred, jumped from a roof on to some mattresses in his pyjamas. He then set off to call the fire brigade. No one told him to go (so he stated at the inquest on Monday), he just thought it would be a good idea. It was blowing a gale and snowing hard, but even in pyjamas he kept warm by running (vibrant) quickly acrossed. The first house he stopped at had no telephone, so he went on to the next building he saw. That turned out to be the fire station, so his work was done.—London Spectator.

SELECTED RECIPES

SPICE CAKE

1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup corn syrup
1 cup brown sugar
2 eggs
2 cups all-purpose flour

1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg
3/4 cup sour milk
1 1/2 cups small raisins
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
Cream shortening; gradually add corn syrup and 1/2 cup brown sugar. Add well beaten egg yolks. Sift flour, baking powder, soda, salt and spices. Add alternately with sour milk to creamed mixture. Add raisins and chopped nuts; stir well. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites to which has been added the remaining 1/2 cup brown sugar. Pour into loaf pan 9" x 5" x 3" oiled with mazonia. Bake moderate oven. Frost with caramel icing.

COANUT MACAROONS

1 cup white sugar
1 tablespoon cold water
1 tablespoon corn syrup
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
3 cups cocoanut
2 tablespoons corn starch
Put sugar, water and corn syrup into saucepan; stir until dissolved, then boil without stirring until mixture spins a fine thread. To stiffen beat egg whites and corn starch, beat again until mixture peaks. Pour hot syrup slowly over egg whites, beating constantly and very fluffy. Add cocoanut; blend. Drop by spoonfuls on cookie sheet oiled with mazonia. Bake in slow oven. Yield 30 macaroons.

How The Food Parcels Sent Weekly Saved Many Lives

That the prisoner of war food parcels dispatched overseas weekly by the Canadian Red Cross "unquestionably saved thousands of lives" is the expressed opinion of a recently repatriated war correspondent who was taken prisoner in Italy in 1942.

Larry Allen, famous Associated Press writer and U.S. Correspondent British Mediterranean Fleet, in a letter to the Canadian Red Cross states unequivocally that it was the Red Cross food parcels "that meant the difference between life and death while I was imprisoned in Italy."

Expressing his gratitude after his return home from the Swedish liner "Gripsholm", Mr. Allen writes that "Canadian parcels came to myself, British, American and Canadian parcels months before any American ones reached us, and since the Italian diet was extremely scanty and of poor quality, I think you know why I and others said, nightly: 'Thank God for the Canadian Cross!'"

CONFIDENCE

"An army can move only as fast as its supplies." That truth is well established. Engineers and infantry need artillery support. All need ammunition... food... and they need moral support: proof that we, at home, are doing all we can to back them up.

Attack wins objectives. Support wins Wars.

And that is where we, on the home front, fit into the war programme. We must furnish support. We must buy more Victory Bonds.

Bear in mind that part of the money which Victory Bonds provide is used to buy foods which Canadian farmers produce and which is needed to feed our fighters and the fighting forces of our allies.

Victory Bonds are a good investment... the safest place that you can put your savings. You should buy them to have money for things you want to do when the war ends. ## APRIL BUSINESS SUMMARY BY BANK OF MONTREAL

With so many impressive signs that the end of the war in Europe is at hand, plans for reconstruction are now actively to the fore in Canada. In this connection, especial interest attaches to a White Paper which the government submitted to Parliament this month outlining a program which aims to provide 960,000 more peacetime jobs in the initial period of reconstruction than were available in Canada in 1939, this being the figure which it is estimated will assure a high level of employment. The basis of this program will be a series of measures to facilitate and encourage an expansion of private industry, including primary industries. While believing it is neither desirable nor practicable to look to the expansion of government enterprise to provide, in any large degree, the additional employment required, the government will keep in reserve a backlog of public works, which can be undertaken where and when they are needed to stave off unemployment. The program is predicated on the assumption that the maintenance of government outlays on a higher scale than in the prewar era need not prevent a substantial reduction of the present rates of taxation. The present federal government, however, whenever unemployment raises its head, will be prepared to incur deficits and increases in the national debt to meet the expenses of its employment policy, but it will budget for surpluses in years when employment is good and the national income buoyant.

Money for Veterans

With more and more veterans coming out of the services, the payments of allowances and gratuities became a topic of increasing interest. A Canadian private, unmarried, five years service, three broad, gets grants, including the rehabilitation credit, amounting in all to $1,700.50. A British private with a similar service record gets only $570.46 from his government.

In Australia the question of rehabilitation and grants to service personnel is still being discussed in government circles, but nothing concrete has been laid down. Post war employment preference for service men has been passed in the house, but with a good deal of opposition from the Unions. A strong point of contention is the matter of civilian clothing provided to soldiers on discharge. For a considerable length of time this consisted of a so-called "Zoot suit," hat, shoes, and so forth, at a cost of approximately $25. This caused a great deal of resentment and after much humming and hawing the government improved this situation, but it still remains considerably less than the clothing allowances provided by the Canadian government.

The contrast between the Canadian situation during World War I and now is revealing. Here is a typical entry in the pay-book of a Canadian soldier on demobiliza-tion in 1919:

Civilian Clothing Allowances..... $35.00
First payment War Service Gratuity.... 70.00
Boat expense money..... 4.78
Train expense money..... 5.00
If a soldier served for three years overseas he would get $131 more as the balance of this war service gratuity.
These examples and comparisons give an idea of the scale upon which veterans' grants have been established by Mackenzie King's government. The passing of legislation to provide the payment of war service gratuities to the estates of deceased soldiers has been very well received. The Ottawa Journal not always very cheerful when discussing government policy, quickly said: "The decision will be welcomed as fair and just."

"A progressive reduction in the overseas forces will commence at the maximum rate that shipping is available."—Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

"There is no use fooling ourselves with looking for enlarged exports without enlarged imports."—Dr. W. C. Wallace.
